

SEATTLE 2030 DISTRICT

Champion Program

A Community of Leaders

The goal of this volunteer initiative is to encourage the integration and adoption of the 2030 District goals for energy, water and transportation into an organization's practices, documentation and projects. In turn, we will develop a network of informed individuals who can shape public policy.

Training and Networking

The 2030 District will provide a half-day "District 101" training for Champions on how to educate colleagues about District goals and the benefits of membership. As part of the network, Champions will gain expert knowledge about new technologies and have the opportunity to share best practices. We will work together to strategize solutions to the challenges of integrating 2030 District goals into their workplace.

A Leadership Opportunity

District Champions will be able to develop leadership from within their company and community. Champions are asked to commit to 2-3 hours per month and will be able to take advantage of business development events, staff support and regular trainings, as well as have access to Champion presentation materials and tools.

Are You a District Champion?

A 2030 District Champion is a professional who wants to shift the conversation in building energy and water efficiency. Together, we will work towards transforming the urban environment and achieving the District's goals by the year 2030. Champions are trained to deliver an introductory presentation to colleagues, peers and companies to build support of 2030 goals and work within their organizations to help achieve them. They are members of a peer network that can shape the work of the Seattle 2030 District. Champions will be recognized for their contribution at the annual Vision Awards and at public events throughout the year. They will have the opportunity to contribute to the blog and the e-newsletter, and participants will be listed on the 2030 District website.

Application Process

Please send Letters of interest and a summary of qualifications to Matthew Combe, Executive Director of the Seattle 2030 District at matthewcombe@2030districts.org.

Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis and prospective Champions will be contacted within (10) business days.

Champion Qualities

Qualified Champions:

- Must be employed by a Seattle 2030 District member and demonstrate a commitment to the achievement of the 2030 District goals.
- Possess strong presentation and communication skills
- Be able to commit to 2-3 hours per month for a 2 year period to the program
- Are seeking business development opportunities within your network
- Are able to network and recruit from within your company and network

We have a tremendous opportunity to shape Seattle's future right now. To do so, we need bold leadership, collaboration and innovation; all qualities that are hallmarks of the people of our great city. We are inviting you to join us in expanding our community and leveraging our collective strengths as part of the Seattle 2030 District Champions Network.

Our Champion Network will provide the training and support needed to empower members to advocate for strong energy, water and transportation measures within your firms and the connections to leverage our collective experience to influence local and national policy development. We invite you to bring your goals and expertise to our table so we can provide you with the resources needed to advance your sustainability objectives. Together, we can build a movement that will create the city that we desire – a vital, fossil fuel-free community and a thriving Puget Sound for our children and generations to come.

Contact Executive Director, Matthew Combe to learn how you can become a 2030 District Champion today!
206.877.2400 / matthewcombe@2030districts.org